People get to know the world through all the information around them, so news is an important part of people's lives. However, "fake news" is now everywhere.

As we know, fake news is not good, but it's still popular. Do you know why? First of all, everyone is free to talk about their ideas on the Internet, and other people may take those ideas as news without thinking too much. When more and more people use social media, it is easier than before for people to get wrong information. Second, the things social media shows usually meet people's taste. For example, if someone thinks tests can help students study better, he or she will seldom get information saying tests are bad for kids. In that case, people will strongly believe their ideas are correct. Third, people like to share news with sensational words. The words in fake news are usually more surprising, interesting, and exciting. When a piece of fake news appears, it usually takes only 10 minutes for 1,000 people to see it. However, when a piece of true information appears, it usually takes 60 minutes for 500 people to see it. It is much faster for a piece of fake news to be spread.

Because of these reasons, people hear and see lots of fake news every day. If a person keeps getting wrong information, he or she will have wrong ideas about the world. To be a good citizen, everyone should try their best to think about all the news and information carefully and deeply.

spread 散佈 citizen 公民

21. () What does it mean when a piece of news is "sensational"?
 (A) It is people's own ideas, not real news. (B) It is exciting and surprising for people.
 (C) It is difficult to be spread. (D) No one will believe in it.

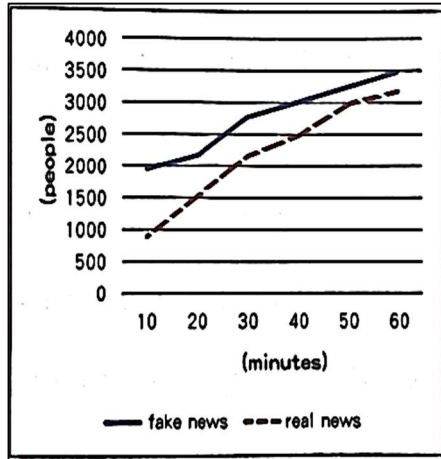

22. () According to the reading, which is NOT one of the reasons for fake news to be popular?

(according to 根據)

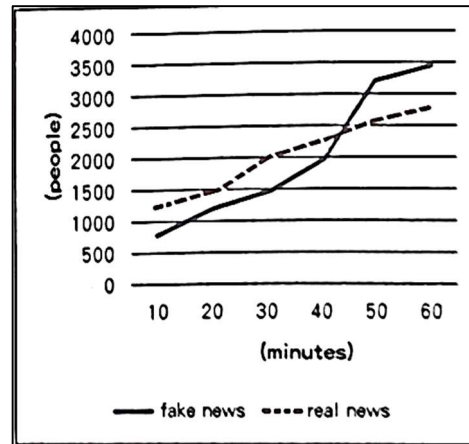

- (A) To make themselves popular, people like to write fake news.
- (B) Anyone can write news on the Internet now.
- (C) Social media usually shows people things to meet their taste.
- (D) People like to share interesting information with others.

*My father told me at dinner
With his hand on my shoulder.
On my birthday he'll give
A pet as a gift to me,
And he asked me for a list.*

*Perhaps I should get a mouse,
And keep it in my room.
But will it play with the cats?
That would make us very sad.*

*Could I keep a goose, then?
We could both swim in the pool.
My brother said its poop stinks,
He will not stand it.*

*How about keeping a pet rabbit?
In a garden with lots of grass.
Where could it rest? I thought.
Under the starry night, of course.*

*It'd be fun to have a spider.
I'd hide it in my drawer.
Then on Halloween I would make my sister scared.*

*All these animals I listed
With a smile I gave it to my father.
He said a puppy would be a good start
For me to keep it with love.*

Crosstalk is a Chinese performance with long history and a bright future. It involves one or more performers having a conversation full of jokes and funny stories. This might sound simple, but it's not. The jokes in crosstalk are hidden. They are usually puns with many different meanings. Crosstalk performers also need to make use of different skills. A good performer will tease, sing, speak, and imitate other people when they're up on stage.

Crosstalk has a history back to ancient China, and it shows in some of the subject matter. More traditional performers tend to make fun of how inconvenient life was in the old days. But not all crosstalk shows focus on the past. The "new blood" performers talk about modern relationship topics, such as breaking up by email. In China, foreigners are even creating crosstalk shows in English. One day we might see crosstalk shows all over the world.

performance 表演 involve 牽涉 performer 表演者
 tease 戲弄 imitate 模仿 ancient 古老的
 traditional 傳統的 tend to 傾向

33. () According to the reading, what is a crosstalk?
 (A) A traditional Chinese performance in which one performer talks through the whole show.
 (B) A performance filled with jokes and funny stories that are very clear and easy to understand.
 (C) A popular show in ancient China but it is less popular in modern days.
 (D) A show that needs skillful performers to fill the conversation with hidden jokes or puns.
34. () What does "pun" mean in the reading?
 (A) A word that has several different meanings. (B) A joke that is not funny at all.
 (C) A word or phrase that means nothing. (D) A joke that is hard to understand.
35. () What do we learn from the reading?
 (A) Even though crosstalk has a short history, it has still become very popular.
 (B) New-blood crosstalk performers make fun of how inconvenient the past was.
 (C) A good crosstalk performer has many skills, not just telling jokes.
 (D) Crosstalk is a Chinese tradition, and there is no English version of it.

Dear Diary,

I'm 36. I made a new friend, Jordan, today. He is an exchange student from the U.S. He doesn't speak Chinese very well, 37. I don't understand how he can feel so comfortable talking to others in his poor Chinese.

Today, he asked me why I often leave school in a hurry. I explained that I have to take another class at a cram school every evening. He looked shocked and confused. But it is my life every day.

One thing that Jordan often does in class seems strange to me. He loves 38. in class. I couldn't help asking him, "Don't you worry about giving a wrong answer or asking a stupid question?" He told me, "If you don't ask questions, you don't know whether you understand or not. Teachers are there to help us, right? When I am learning something new, 39. So, don't be afraid to try." I agree with him even though 40. At least, now I know why he does that.

I'm so glad for the chance to make friends with people from different countries. I hope we will be good friends.
